NEURAL NETWORK PRODUCT

NeuroDimension has released version 3.0 of its neural network simulation environment, NeuroSolutions for Windows. Version 3.0 adds improved usability and software extensibility.

Version 3.0 also provides add-in modules for Microsoft Excel to simplify construction, training and analyzing the results of a neural network. The user highlights in Excel the segments of data he or she wants to use for training, cross-validation and testing. Then the user steps through configuration panels to prepare the neural network for training.

The training module offers several methods for training the network, each producing a graphical report summarizing the training results. Finally, the testing module allows the user to run a test data set through the trained network to determine how well the network learned the process being modeled.

Version 3.0 is compliant with the OLE server, and NeuroSolutions 3.0 can be integrated with Excel and all other OLE server applications, giving users the ability to write their own scripts. Prices range from $195 to $1,995.
